How do I get recent news articles about an industry?

FACTIVA – An excellent database for current business information:

Click Search located at the top of the screen; then select Search Builder.

Enter search terms in the Free Text box: for example, trends or projections (see screen shot below).

Select a Date range from the drop-down menu: for example: In the last year.

Click Industry in the left navigation area. Scroll down to the industry you want to research: for example +Automobiles.

When you click on the plus sign, the subheadings display. Choose one of the subheadings: for example, Motor Vehicles by clicking on it.

Your selection will appear highlighted in orange across from the Industry link.

Click Search to activate the search.
ProQuest ABI/Inform Global: Another quality database for business-related articles:

Click on the Advanced link at the top of the page. Select Document title from the drop-down menu to search for articles that have the industry in the title. One way to search would be to ask for automobile industry to appear in the title of the articles you pull up. In the example, we will select Document title from the drop-down menu.

Add an additional keyword or keywords. For example, try any of the following: forecasts, trends, competition, economic recovery, industry profile, industry overview, international trade, market shares, ratings and rankings, sales, statistical data, advertising campaigns, consumer behavior, business conditions, logistics, problems, target markets, alternative energy sources, product introduction, etc.

Note: You can also try searching the industry and other terms in the Subject field; select Subject from the drop-down menu.

Select a date range: for example, Last 12 months.

Your search is geared automatically for full text articles.

You can also try searching by NAICS number:

Enter the industry you want to search

Select Document Title from the menu

Add additional keyword(s) to search

Select a date range

Enter a search term and select a field

Enter the NAICS number; you can look it up if you do not know it: 336111
Our search always appears in the search box at the top of the screen. The search displayed below shows that we searched for automobile industry in the title (ti) and for the word forecast in the citation/abstract field.

\[ \text{ti(automobile industry)} \text{ AND cabs(forecast)} \]

Click on the title or on the full text link to go directly to the article.
