

Business leaders in the news

Detroit Free Press 11:26 p.m. EST December 17, 2016

Read about Michiganders changing jobs and earning promotions and accolades.

(Photo: Michigan Manufacturing Technology Center)

■ Bryan Luxon joined Michigan Manufacturing Technology Center in Plymouth as senior business solutions manager for the northern metro Detroit region. He has 25 years of experience. Prior to joining, he was the Midwest sales manager for Sonoco Protective Solutions. He graduated from Oakland University.

■ Joanne Healy joined JGA as executive vice president and chief strategy officer. Her experience includes design and consulting. She was a professor and the dean of graduate studies at the College for Creative Studies. She also has been vice president of interactive strategies for T. Rowe Price and managing director and design director at Optima Group. She has a master's degree from Yale University and a bachelor's degree from Wesleyan University.

■ Shirley Kaigler, a partner in the Southfield office of Jaffe Raitt Heuer & Weiss, was appointed to the Oakland County Bar Foundation board of trustees. She is a current member of Jaffe's estate and wealth planning practice group. She also is a probate and estate planning section advisory board member of the Institute of Continuing Legal Education, and a member of the National Academy of Elder Law Attorneys. She received a bachelor's degree from Wayne State University and a law degree from the University of Michigan.

■ T&M Associates, a national consulting, environmental, engineering and construction management company, opened a full-service office in Detroit. The firm also has an office in Novi, three offices in Ohio, and offices in Indiana and Kentucky.

■ Nikole Ford-Kondraciuk was named president of the Michigan Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers. She is an assistant director of enrollment services, assessment and orientation at Henry Ford College in Dearborn. She has been president of the Michigan Association for College Admission Counseling Metro Detroit National College Fair committee. She also was awarded the college's women's recognition award. She received a bachelor's degree from the Michigan State University, and a graduate degree from Wayne State University.

■ Clayton & McKerverey, an international accounting and business advisory firm in Detroit, was named by International Tax Review as a top adviser in transfer pricing.

■ Ron Cheli and Bill Lyshak joined Butzel Long in Bloomfield Hills. Cheli, who also is a certified public accountant, is a shareholder who focuses his practice on corporate real estate. Cheli received a bachelor's degree from Aquinas and a law degree from Wayne State University.

Lyshak, who also is an accountant, is of counsel and focuses on estate planning. He has been an adjunct professor at Walsh College, the Thomas M. Cooley Law School and Wayne State University. He received a bachelor's degree from Florida Atlantic University and law degrees from Gonzaga University and the University of Florida. He has a master's degree from the University of Michigan.

■ Michael Lacusta was appointed vice president of business development for McLaren Health Care in Flint. He has more than 35 years of experience. He worked at the Detroit Medical Center for more than 20 years, including as executive vice president and chief business development officer. He also was president of University Physician Services, a predecessor of Wayne State University Physician Group. He has a bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan and a master's degree from Marquette University.

■ Marsha Kelliher was appointed president and CEO of Walsh College. Previously, she was dean of the business school in Susquehanna University in Pennsylvania. She succeeds Stephanie Bergeron, who announced her retirement last spring. Kelliher spent 19 years at St. Edward's University in Austin, Texas, where she held numerous leadership roles, including dean of the school of management and business. She has a master's degree from the University of San Diego and a law degree from South Texas College of Law. Her bachelor's degree is from Indiana University.

■ Beth Ann Arroyo was appointed vice president of SBA Lending at Main Street Bank in Bingham Farms. She has a bachelor's degree from Wayne State University, and a master's degree from Walsh College. She is active with the Detroit Jazz Festival, the Belle Isle Conservancy, the Detroit Institute of Arts and Gleaners Community Food Bank.

■ Pentastar Aviation, owned by Edsel Ford II, joined with the Townsend Hotel in Birmingham to add global travel services. The private aviation company based at Oakland County International Airport has been named the official private charter provider for the hotel.

■ Abdul El-Sayed, executive director of the Detroit health department, was appointed to the advisory committee for the National Health Promotion and Disease Prevention Objectives for 2030 by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services' secretary for health. El-Sayed was selected along with 12 other experts in health promotion, disease prevention, epidemiology, health literacy, communication, law, and state and local public health practice. In their new roles they will help chart the course for Healthy People 2030.

■ Avalon International Breads, which started in Detroit, opened a coffee shop at Metro Airport inside the Harvest Grounds Newsstand on the C concourse of the McNamara terminal. The counter service stand offers an assortment of baked goods and grab-and-go sandwiches, as well as specialty coffee drinks from Mighty Good Coffee.