$1 Million Commitment Endows MSU Professorship
EAST LANSING, Mich., Oct. 8 -- Michigan State University issued the following news release: A retired Michigan State University professor has made a $1 million commitment to benefit the MSU College of Engineering with a professorship in electromagnetics. The gift is being established through an estate plan from Dennis P. Nyquist of East Lansing, a former faculty member and graduate of the MSU Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering. "Both the college and ECE department were in

ABA Magna Carta Educational Traveling Exhibit Stops in Michigan; Highlights Charter’s Significance
WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 -- The American Bar Association issued the following news release: The American Bar Association has joined with the Library of Congress and its Law Library to present a special traveling exhibit commemorating the 800th anniversary of the sealing of Magna Carta. The exhibit is hosted by the University of Michigan Law School and runs through Oct. 23. The exhibit can be seen at the Michigan Law Library, sub-1, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. The ABA Standing Committee on the Law Libr

Academic Salary Adjustment Guidelines and Market Adjustment Guidelines
EAST LANSING, Mich., Oct. 8 -- Michigan State University issued the following news release: The MSU Board of Trustees approved salary increases for non-union faculty and academic staff of 2 percent for general merit and .5 percent for college market adjustments effective Oct. 1. Additionally, 0.5 percent was approved for the university-wide market pool for market adjustments for non-union faculty and academic staff. As in past years, guidelines for the university-wide market pool are distribu

CMU Expert Responds to Silver Carp Environmental DNA Found in Kalamazoo River
MOUNT PLEASANT, Mich., Oct. 8 -- Central Michigan University issued the following news release: Detecting the presence of silver carp in the Kalamazoo River by screening water samples for environmental DNA affirms the efficacy of a technique developed by Andrew Mahon, Central Michigan University Institute for Great Lakes Research scientist and assistant professor of biology. "While the sample that tested positive for the presence of silver carp eDNA is not necessarily indicative of a large

College of Business Administration Students Take Home Top Prizes at Collegiate Sales Decathlon
MANHATTAN, Kan., Oct. 8 -- Kansas State University issued the following news release: Kansas State University's Austin Robisch, a senior in management information systems from Overland Park, won first place at the Northern Illinois University Sales Decathlon, Oct. 2-4, earning a $2,000 cash prize, a job offer from Adobe Systems and the title of Sales Athlete of the Year. Armani Williams, a junior in marketing from Lenexa, also fared well in the competition, taking first place in the face-

College of Education Kicks Off Golden Lecture Series
ALLENDALE, Mich., Oct. 8 -- Grand Valley State University issued the following news: The College of Education is hosting a Golden Lecture Series in celebration of its 50th anniversary. The series begins October 14 with guest speaker, Gleaves Whitney, director of the Hauenstein Center for Presidential Studies at Grand Valley. Whitney's speech, "Can We Find Common Ground in Education?" is the first in a four-part lecture and panel series being held throughout the year with the theme, "reflec

Walsh College Celebrates Global Entrepreneurship Week
TROY, Mich., Oct. 8 -- Walsh College issued the following news release: Walsh College President and CEO Stephanie Bergeron and members of Walsh College's Blackstone LaunchPad team will highlight steps for starting a successful business from the ground up during Walsh College's Walshpreneur Fair celebrating Global Entrepreneurship Week. The public is invited to the business college's Troy campus to attend the free event from 5 to 7:30 p.m. on Monday, November 17. Participants will have t

Sign up to Receive this newsletter every day via email.